NEW COLOR

SHELLEY HIMMELSTEIN, FRANK LIU AND ALEX STOLYAROV
AT ROSENBERG + KAUFMAN FINE ART

Rosenberg + Kaufman Fine Art is pleased to present New Color, an exhibition of recent work by three talented young artists Shelley Himmelstein, Frank Liu and Alex Stolyarov. The exhibition opens on Wednesday, June 26 continuing through Friday, July 26, 1996. There will be a reception for the artists on Wednesday, June 26 from 6-8PM.

The gallery is taking this opportunity to exhibit the work of three young New York artists who have come to our attention in various ways over the past few years. For each of these artists color is a critical aspect of their work, whether achieved through specific imagery, by exploring the individual properties of paint and light or by densely layering color upon color. Himmelstein describes her work as creating "spaces that reflect both particular locales and a personal process." To the younger Liu and Stolyarov, the use of color is no less about personal process but, perhaps, has more to do with a state of mind rather than the "feel" of a particular locale.

Beyond their considerable talents, what is of great appeal to us about these three artists is their belief in and commitment to painting as a vital and optimistic form of human expression and communication.

Gallery hours in July are Tuesday through Friday 11AM-6PM and by appointment. For images of the work and additional information please contact Fran Kaufman.
